THE PROJECT

We Are the Planet! is a project co-funded by the European Commission within the framework of its Development Education programs. General aim of We Are the Planet! is to strengthen the common awareness and to mobilize the new generations in regard of the 7th Millennium Goal of the United Nations, that of a sustainable environment.

With regard to this objective, the project privileges the means of social communication based on art.

We Are the Planet! experiments an innovative model of artistic-didactic activity, aiming at supporting the environmental education and the sustainable development: a model focused on the children and youth as protagonists, and on the synergic integration of public art and educational activities.

Involving pupils and citizens of the European and African countries taking part in the action, the project includes the implementation of active learning courses on the topics of the 7th Millennium Goal that will be integrated by creative workshops in which the languages of music, visual arts and video performances will be used.
